Dear Hal,

I talked with Marc Friday--he had returned from L.A. around noon--and he seemed to hesitate seriously with the contract because of what I told him of our conversation. In fact, he toyed with the idea of phoning you that day. Today, however, he decided to go ahead with the contract--taking knowingly a chance. He knows you may be ready to look over the ms. when it is in English.

Just this in a hurry. And these two books.

My best to Lill.

As ever,

Walker
